LIBC STORY

It's no secret that Long Islanders are obsessed with bagels, and our founders, Joe and Randy are no exception! Armed with an extensive culinary arts background and education, Joe was intent on launching a premier bagel store, and in 2001, the first Long Island Bagel Café (LIBC) opened in Oceanside, New York. From the very beginning, LIBC's food has been the star of the show. In fact, lines continue to wrap around our stores on any given day. Realizing such success within a short period, Joe called up upon Randy's business expertise to help expand and fortify LIBC operations. In just a few years, the brothers-in-law had launched several locations throughout Long Island, earning a reputation for their delicious bagels and spreads. As more locations opened, customer appreciation and loyalty grew from the overarching desire for quality food and service. LIBC serves "real deal New York bagels," baked daily at all of our locations. Joe and Randy are committed to their franchising efforts in order to share LIBC products with the entire country, thereby putting an end to other stores' phony claims to serve "real" New York bagels.
